Steele's Scouts revisit 1885 Rebellion

Here comes the cavalry!

The buckskin-clad Alberta Field Force II Steele's Scouts rode up to the Frog Lake National Historic Site on Wednesday in commemoration of their predecessors' part in the 1885 Northwest Rebellion when the original Scouts were sent to apprehend Chief Big Bear and his band.

History was brought to life last Wednesday as the Alberta Field Force II Steele's Scouts commemorated the 125th anniversary of the Northwest Rebellion as they began their march from Frog Lake to Steele Narrows, Sask., following the Trail of Big Bear.

After the tragic confrontation of April 2, 1885 where war chief Wandering Spirit and a band of renegades ignored the pleas of aging political Chief Big Bear and went on a lethal shooting spree that left Indian agent Thomas Quinn and nine others dead at the Frog Lake settlement, Chief Big Bear and his band moved eastward to Fort Pitt.

Big Bear's band of close to 500 men, women and children had spent the winter at Frog Lake reserves Numbers 121 and 122, as guests of Chief Unipouheos and Chief Puskiakwenin, while the band waited to move to their own reserve along Dog Rump Creek, between today's St. Paul and Elk Point, which was being surveyed at that time. Agent Quinn was in charge of distributing supplies to Big Bear's band, but meted out food so sparsely that the band was in imminent danger of starvation. Wandering Spirit took matters into his own hands to remedy the situation, and the rest is a black chapter in Canadian history.

The original Field Force, under the leadership of Inspector Samuel Steele, a Major in the Canadian Militia, rode into this area in 1885 in pursuit of Big Bear's band. A commemorative troop was chartered in 1977 and also rode through this area in 1985 during the 100th anniversary of the Rebellion.

Today's force, like their historic predecessors, started out from Calgary, but instead of marching to Edmonton en route to Frog Lake, they traveled in a convoy of motor homes, trucks and horse trailers, and visited Victoria Settlement on Monday, Aug. 30 for a program of cavalry drills, troop inspection and presentations before loading up for the drive to Frog Lake, where they set up camp just west of the Frog Lake Cemetery.

Wednesday morning saw approximately 20 buckskin-clad riders mount up as showers moved out of the region, and head down an oiled road, meeting oil industry trucks as they followed the route of their predecessors toward the fieldstone monument commemorating the 1885 tragedy. Set in a triangle of grassland where wild asters bloom and sage scents the air, the monument looms over the tombstone of NWMP Cst. D. L. Cowan and seven iron crosses.

Heinsburg's new principal "finally comes home"

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

It's a long time since Darcy Younghans walked the halls of Heinsburg Community School, but now he's back, and you'll find him behind the desk in the principal's office.

"I left here in Grade 10 to pursue hockey. It took me to college and university," Younghans says. After completing his education at the University of Alberta, he spent 20 years in High Prairie and the past two years in Stettler.

"Now I'm back home. It's funny how home kind of calls you."

The high school in Stettler has approximately 600 students, but Younghans says he's "Always been a small town boy. You get to know the people. That's what makes our community."

Younghans finds "quite a few changes" in the school since he left.

Off-highway vehicle collisions result in fatality, injury

By Cst. John Spaans

Elk Point RCMP Detachment

On Aug. 24 at 8 p.m., Elk Point RCMP responded to a fatal collision involving an off-highway vehicle and a semi tractor-trailer. The 53-year-old female driver of the quad was driving on the Iron Horse Trail when she collided with the truck that was stopped at a stop sign at Range Road 55. The female died of her injuries on scene. The collision has been found to be non-criminal and is still under investigation.

It is currently believed that the female driver of the quad committed a stop sign violation leading to the collision.

Injury collision

On Aug. 26 at 5:30 p.m., RCMP responded to a single vehicle collision involving an off-highway vehicle. The vehicle had been driving on Township Road 562A near Frog Lake when the driver lost control and the vehicle rolled over. The male driver of the vehicle was taken to an area hospital with injuries to his legs. The investigation into the cause of the collision is ongoing.

Domestic violence

At 2:40 p.m. on Aug. 27, Elk Point RCMP responded to a complaint of a male assaulting a female in Frog Lake. Members attended the residence and found that the male suspect had fled the scene prior to the members' arrival. The female victim had alleged that the suspect was dragging her around the house and hitting her with the blunt end of a BB gun. The 31-year-old male suspect has been charged with assault with a weapon. The female victim did not sustain any serious injuries.

On Aug. 29 at 2:30 a.m., RCMP were called to a residence in Elk Point where a female was assaulting a male. It is alleged that the female began arguing with the male while he was visiting the residence. The female began kicking and punching the male and he called police. The 27-year-old female has been charged with assault. Alcohol was a factor in the occurrence.

Break and enter

On Aug. 27, Elk Point RCMP received two complaints regarding sheds being broken into during the previous night. One shed was broken into at UFA and the other at the Fields store. Damage was minimal and the missing goods of low value. Investigation into these occurrences is ongoing but witnesses state that a quad was seen in the area during the night. Should anyone have information regarding these matters, please contact the Elk Point RCMP.

Drug seizure

On Aug. 30, RCMP executed a search warrant at a residence north of Elk Point after a male was arrested with drugs in his possession in Bonnyville. Elk Point members searched the residence and located crack cocaine, methamphetamine and illegal prescription drugs.

The same residence had been searched for drugs in June 2010. During the search, the same types of drugs were found and the owner charged criminally. After the current search, the 32-year-old owner of the house remains in custody on charges of possession of controlled substances for the purpose of trafficking.

Firefighters' Ball this Saturday

By Vicki Brooker

Review Staff

Elk Point Volunteer Fire Department will host their seventh annual Firefighters' Ball on Saturday, with the aim of raising funds to upgrade and purchase new tools and equipment necessary to provide a high level of service.

A silent auction of items donated by businesses and organizations, dinner, dancing and a comedian will all be part of the gala evening at the Allied Arts Centre.

New principal

"There was a two-story annex where I took Industrial Arts and where I was in Grade 6. It brings back a lot of memories."

One of those memories hangs on the wall just down the hall from his office: a ceiling-high relief map of the province. "I helped to paint it in Grade 8 social studies. All the schools in Alberta got them, but I haven't seen one in any of the schools I've been in. There's been a lot of water under the bridge since then."

Younghans hopes he and his staff can create a safe and caring environment for all their students, and wants the community "to know we are going to use every resource we have to help these children succeed." He would also like to increase the school's completion rate.

Younghans is also looking forward to "reacquainting myself with the community. Everyone is welcome to stop in and say hi."

A new vice-principal has also been added to the lineup, sharing that role with Philip Ng.

Rob MacDonald has spent the past 10 years at Saddle Lake's Onchaminahos School, which has over 300 students. The move to a smaller school that includes both junior and senior high students will be "quite a change. It's a much different environment." The smaller student body will be an asset, he says. "It will be good to get to know every student very quickly."

He says he's looking forward to new challenges, and "I want to work with the team to make this school as strong as we can make it."

Alberta Integrated Traffic Units looking out for your children's safety as they head back to school

EDMONTON, ALBERTA – Alberta Integrated Traffic Units (Alberta Traffic Sheriffs & RCMP), along with our enforcement partners, will be involved in educating the public on back to school safety. In the excitement of returning to school, children may forget basic road safety rules as they walk, bicycle, and ride the bus to schools across Alberta. Throughout the province, traffic injuries are the leading cause of death and a leading cause of hospitalization of children younger than 14 years of age. Motorists are urged to use caution when driving through residential areas and to adhere to speed limits in school and playground zones.

An Elk Point RCMP Detachment member takes aim at oncoming 50th Street traffic with the radar gun as a back-to-school blitz on school-zone speeders got underway last week. The area between the schools is also a playground zone with speed restrictions in effect every day of the year.

“Children have difficulty judging oncoming vehicles’ speeds and have a tendency to dart out into the street in pursuit of a friend, pet, or toy. Drivers may find it harder to see children who are smaller in height,” says Inspector James STILES, Officer in Charge “K” Division Traffic Services.

“A child’s reaction to danger differs from that of an adult. For instance, the approach of a car may prompt a child to run faster across the street instead of staying on the sidewalk as would an adult. Fatigue and lack of attention increase the risk of a child suffering a pedestrian injury on the way to or from school.”

To keep children safe, motorists should:

- Scan farther down the road and obey posted speed limits. Always be prepared to slow down or stop.
- Avoid loud music and other distractions when driving.
- Use caution when approaching intersections or mid-block crosswalks. Parked or stopped vehicles may hide a pedestrian who is crossing the road. The fine is $575 and four demerit points for failing to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk or passing a vehicle stopped at a crosswalk to permit a pedestrian to cross.
- Watch for the school safety patrol in their orange vests and stop as directed. Patrolers play a vital role in directing children safely across the street.

- Be very cautious in parking lots or when backing out of a parking stall or driveway.
 - Watch for kids between parked vehicles and on the sidewalk. They may dash out into the street after a friend or a toy.
 - Adhere to school and playground zone speed limits in your community.
- “The Alberta Integrated

Traffic Units (Alberta Traffic Sheriffs & RCMP) strive to provide Albertans with safe and secure communities and as such, one of our priorities is to improve traffic safety through enforcement and public education,” says Inspector James STILES, Officer in Charge “K” Division Traffic Services.

Slow - students at large

School is back in, and students, some of them for the very first time out and about on their own, are walking to and from classes. In their excitement over seeing their friends and starting new activities, they may not be paying attention to what's going on around them.

Therefore, it's up to drivers to keep an extra careful watch for children doing things they never should do, such as popping out between parked cars. It's not about who has the right-of-way, it's about saving lives.

Let's all make sure that back-to-school is safe and happy for our community's children.

Way Back When...

Social needs, Showdown, school worries

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF SEPT. 7 IN...

1985

Elk Point FCSS released the results of a study on Elk Point's social needs, stating that activities for teenagers, family support groups, low cost housing, sports activities and a welcome wagon were needed in the community. A brief formulated by town council and presented to the Northern Alberta Development Council by Deputy Mayor Bruce Kleeberger recommended the establishment of government manpower agencies, provincial social services agencies, training for women entering the job market and attraction of more health professionals to the area.

1990

Elk Point Agricultural Society treasurer Thomas Kondla turned over the final payment on a two-year-old loan taken out to cover urgently needed repairs on the A. G. Ross Arena's roof, which, Ag Society president Glenn Harms noted, "will keep this arena functioning 10 to 15 years from now." Pam Veer, Tanya Kenyon and Charlene Baker took home the high point blankets from the Elk Point Ag Society Open Horse Show.

1995

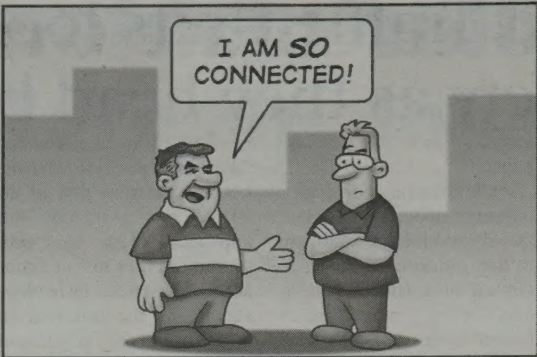

Bullrider Dion Roscoe dedicated his championship win in the 1995 Lakeland Rodeo Association Showdown Finals to his late friend and traveling companion Kirk Jackknife. Erica Nielsen won the Season Runner-up award and the Finals Average award at Showdown, while CJ Best of Heinsburg was Season Runner-Up in Novice Horse Riding.

2000

Twenty-six members of F. G. Miller's Class of 2000 were the toast of Elk Point as they celebrated the earning of high school diplomas and accepted numerous awards, with Peter Danyluk and Michael Povaschuk as valedictorians and another eight grads unable to be present for the ceremonies. Elk Point's Citizens on Patrol officially got underway, with 20 members and Ashley Hebblethwaite designing the winning logo.

2005

The future of Heinsburg School was in question after the St. Paul Education Regional Division board received a letter indicating that Frog Lake band council was considering discontinuing running buses from the reserve to the school in 2006-07. An $80,000 provincial grant and $5,000 from CCS edged the Rescue Van replacement fund over the $190,000 mark and allowed the Elk Point Firefighters Association to place the order for the much-needed new vehicle.

GUEST COLUMN

A different way

After traveling to the UK this summer, I learned that some things are different in Wales, Scotland and Ireland. For example, the humour of the Irish people really impressed me. Well, actually, what they do a lot is quote from the wit of Oscar Wilde who wrote several plays and novels. For example, from The Soul of Man Under Socialism, he is quoted as saying: "A red rose is not selfish because it wants to be a red rose. It would be horribly selfish if it wanted all the other flowers in the garden to be both red and roses." So there you go, differences are good.

deanna
EASTHOPE
from the FCSS desk

In Wales I picked up a book with the title: "Favourite Casserole Recipes" that included recipes from these three countries. I am sure some of you will be interested in the following recipe called Irish Stew. This is one of the oldest and most famous of all Irish recipes, traditionally made only with neck of lamb, potatoes and onions, flavoured with herbs.

- 1 1/2 lb neck of lamb, middle or best end, cut into cutlets and trimmed
- 2 large onions, sliced
- 1 lb potatoes, peeled, sliced, weighed after preparation
- 2 tablespoons fresh chopped parsley and 1 teaspoon fresh chopped thyme, mixed together
- Salt and black pepper
- 1/2 to 3/4 pint water

Set oven to 325F or Mark 3. Layer the lamb, onions and potatoes in a casserole dish, sprinkling the herbs and seasoning between each of the layers and finishing with a neat layer of potatoes on top. Pour in the water, cover with a piece of buttered greaseproof paper and put on the lid. Cook for 2 to 2 1/2 hours. The traditional accompaniments to Irish Stew are either pickled red cabbage and/or carrots. Serves 4.

Alternatively, if desired, Irish Stew can be cooked slowly on top of the stove. ...

O.K., did you think Irish Stew was made to include some kind of beef? Surprise! Actually, when we were touring Wales, they told us that there is so much sheep in Wales that the number is three sheep to each person. I didn't learn the sheep ratio in Ireland, but the countryside did have a lot of sheep, so I can understand why Irish Stew is made from lamb. It is something that is most available to these people.

Let me share another recipe from the same book. It is called: Rich Beef Stew. This Scottish stew is thickened with oatmeal rather than flour.

- 1 lb stewing steak, cubed
- 1/4 lb mushrooms, sliced
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 2 tablespoons tomato puree
- 1 large onion, chopped roughly
- 1 teaspoon red currant jelly
- 4 oz smoked bacon rashers, diced
- 1 pt beef stock
- 2 tablespoons oatmeal
- 5 fl oz red wine
- 1/4 small swede, diced
- Salt and pepper

Heat the oil in a large saucepan and brown the steak on all sides; then add the onions and cook for a further 2 minutes. Add the bacon and cook for another 2 minutes. Remove from the heat, stir in the oatmeal and then add the diced swede and the mushrooms. Add the tomato puree and red currant jelly, pour in the stock and wine and stir well. Season, return to the heat, bring slowly to simmering point, cover and cook slowly for about 1 1/2 to 2 hours until the meat is tender. Check the seasoning before serving. Serves 4.

Say, do you know what swede is? Known as "swede" in the UK and rutabaga in the USA, they are often confused with turnips and they are not turnips. You may have another question. What is a bacon rasher? Middle bacon is the most common variety and are sold in "rashers". So there you go, some English words that these people use may or may not have the same meaning to us.

Yes the Irish Stew and Rich Beef Stew recipes from Ireland and Scotland are different then what we eat everyday here, but you have to admit it is interesting. After all, it may be something you might be interested in and want to try just because. Go for it. After all, differences can be acceptable.

Don't forget the Community Information Night tonight. There may be something different there that you wouldn't mind learning about. Come out tonight and we'll see you all there!

Elk Point set to celebrate Grandparents Day

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

A fundraising walk, beginning and ending at the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre, will once again kick off Elk Point's annual Grandparents' Day celebration.

Grandparents are out this week collecting pledges for the walk, with the funds raised helping not only seniors in our own community, but also grandparents in Lushoto, Africa, who are raising up to 11 grandchildren, orphaned by AIDS, while they themselves have only very meagre means of support.

Locally, one third of the funds raised go to assist the Elk Point Pioneer Circle to meet the utility bills on the Seniors Recreation Centre, while another third goes to the Heritage Lodge Auxiliary to help pay the operational costs of their new HandiVan bus.

The African grandparents are assisted by the Lushoto Project, spearheaded by the Drayton Valley Community Foundation, which has built an orphanage run by the Sisters of Charity. The project is now upgrading the local school in Lushoto by providing water and electricity.

It costs approximately $750 to feed one African family and send one child to secondary school for a year, so that child has an opportunity to get an education that will lead to a profession such as nursing or teaching. This is education that can change not only that child's life, but the lives of their brothers and sisters and the community at large.

The Elk Point Grandparents Day organizers hope to raise enough money to help 10 families. That money would go directly to the families and school via the Drayton Valley Foundation members who go to Lushoto up to twice a year at their own expense to oversee progress being made there.

On the home front, the Grandparents Day celebration will provide entertainment by Rolie Poitras and his band, songs by Olivia Rose Leaf and Brooke Gormley, fun for the youngsters as they toss beanbags to win prizes and dig for treasure, and refreshments for everyone.

Prizes for Elk Point Elementary School's Grandparents Day coloring contest, as well as the prizes for fundraisers and participants in the Grandparents Day Walk will also be handed out during the afternoon.

Elks DD addresses District 6 members

By BERNADETTE GODLEIN
BPO Elks District Deputy

To All Elks District 6 communities; Elk Point, Myrnam, St. Paul, Vegreville, Hairy Hill, and Lac La Biche:

My name is Bernadette Godlien from the Elk Point Elks Lodge #460. It is an honour and privilege to have been re-elected by my Elks Brothers and Sisters as their District Deputy for the coming year

I joined the Elks because I could see the good that was done through different charities, especially the Elks and Royal Purple Fund for Children. It was also the welcome and encouragement I felt from all the Elks — as being a part of a family

I realized that with my background as a farmer, rancher, trucker and business manager, I had a lot to offer.

My first year as District Deputy was exciting and challenging. The Brother and Sister Elks within the different lodges always welcomed my accompanying Elks members and me with open arms, warmth and generosity. I attempted to treat everyone with respect and tried to make sure they all had my attention. I appreciated each individual as part of my family.

In the coming year, I want to make a direct plea to the younger Brother Elks — Please share with me, your ideas or possible changes in order to better this fraternity. We need to be non-judgmental, easily approached and more complimentary. It's by our example that others will join our great family of Elks!

Steele's Scouts

The crosses mark the final resting place of Quinn, George Dill, Charles Gouin, William Gilchrist, John Williscroft, John Gowanlock and John Delaney who died April 2, 1885 in that long-ago tragedy.

Elders from Frog Lake First Nation were on hand to greet the riders, and following an inspection of the troops, invited them to take part in a pipe ceremony, which concluded with the presentation of a plaque and a Hudson's Bay blanket to band representative Melvin Abraham.

Abraham said the ceremony "has been handed down from elders through the generations," as has the song he sang at its conclusion. Translated, it says, "Wake up in the morning, The sun has risen, The birds are already singing, Our land is beautiful."

"Our elders sang this as the sun was rising, and taught it to their children. To praise the Creator is the purpose of that song," elder Larry Quinney noted.

A busload of students from Chief Napewaw Comprehensive School at Frog Lake was on hand for the visit, as were historians Bob Hendriks of Heinsburg and Philip Porter of Dewberry.

Following the ceremony, the Field Force rode off to the east, where they would visit the Tullibie Lake area, Onion Lake, Fort Pitt, Frenchman Butte, Bronson and Fowler Lakes on their way to Steele Narrows, where the final battle of the Northwest Rebellion took place.

Traveling slowly, with the maximum daily journey about 35 km, they expect to make that final leg of their journey today, before heading back to Calgary.

Land-use framework takes another step forward

By ALLENDRIA BRUNJES

Review Contributor

The provincial land-use framework took another step toward reality last Thursday, as Alberta Sustainable Resource Development Minister Mel Knight announced the regional council's vision and dates for consultation sessions.

In a press conference at the Alberta legislature, Knight presented the new plan and workbook, which will be the basis for the regional plan, which will legally usurp other policies and bylaws once in place.

Knight said the plan shows a scope of regional planning for the area that balances the environmental, economic and community needs. He noted that it would affect the way people worked and lived in the region.

"The land-use framework is not about stopping development or stopping industry in the province of Alberta," he said. "It is about our economy, and it is about moving forward with the development of the resources that Albertans own, taking in mind that we have to do this thing in a way that addresses conservation, air and water thresholds and human development."

The Lower Athabasca region encompasses the northern end of the Athabasca River's watershed, including the Regional Municipality of Wood Buffalo, Lac La Biche County and the M.D. of Bonnyville.

"It's long term," Knight said. "And we're talking long term like a generation — four or five decades worth of work we think we can move forward on."

The overall land-use map statistics point out that six per cent of the region's land is dedicated to parks currently. The framework would add 14 per cent to that number, increasing conserved land to approximately 14 per cent.

An additional 12 per cent could be added as "Optional Additional Conservation in Mixed-Use Resource."

"The 20 per cent conservation mark was to be a minimum, but it has been treated like a goal," said Liberal opposition leader Laurie Blakeman. "What we're really talking about is 80 per cent development. I think when you look at that way, you go, 'No, that's not what I was thinking of for Alberta.'"

She said people need to speak out against this plan if they have any issues, and the sessions over the next month will give them a chance to do so.

Knight said he was comfortable with 20 per cent of land being reserved for conservation, and it was up to Albertans to state whether they want more. He also noted that development of the resources was "a primary consideration."

"The situation that we have in the Lower Athabasca — and that's across the province of Alberta, let's be honest about this — you cannot stop development," he said. "A primary piece of work that needs to take place in the Lower Athabasca is the development of those resources. They're very well recognized, globally, as a huge resource."

Blakeman said she thinks the government of Alberta is talking about driving development, not just managing it, and similar actions led to economic drop after the last boom.

"That wasn't managing our economy; that was driving it. That was whipping the horses with everything we had," she said. "The government seems to be incapable of saying 'Okay, let's plan this. Let's stick to the plan. Let's manage this.'"

She said she would like to see more drive toward renewable energy sources, agriculture and a creative and knowledge-based economy.

"I think that if we're going to move forward into this new century, we really have to be much more conscious about developing other sectors in our economy," she said. "This is a total focus on resource development."

All sessions run from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Meetings will take place in Elk Point on Sept. 20 and in St. Paul on Sept. 21. More information about other sessions can be found at landuse.alberta.ca.

Tonight is all about information

Arts and Leisure Centre a new venue for annual event

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The venue is new, and so are some of the exhibitors at tonight's Elk Point Information Night.

This year for the first time, Information Night is being held in the much larger location of the Elk Point Arts and Leisure Centre adjacent to Northern Lights Library System Headquarters, which will provide room for a much larger crowd to tour the exhibits, register for upcoming activities and put their names in for the door prizes being offered by most of the groups and agencies present.

Organizer Deanna Easthope says there will be a "good variety" of exhibitors for Information Night, including a number of newcomers, including Chronic Disease Management, Fame Dance Studios, scrapbooking dealers and the Youth Justice Committee. A number of groups will be using this evening as one of their opportunities to register for classes, sports and activities, including Elk Point Further Education, Elk Point Minor Hockey and others.

Information Night goes from 7 to 9 p.m. and is an excellent opportunity to find out everything from when upcoming activities will take place to what some of the newest books are at the local library. The event is especially helpful for newcomers to the community, who may utilize it as 'one-stop-shopping' for activities for the whole family, as well as agencies they may need to access.

Be sure to drop by the Arts and Leisure Centre tonight and find out what's going on around town. Meet the people you may have only spoken to on the phone, learn about the courses you can take and places to go, everything you need to become a well-informed resident of Elk Point and district.

Everyone welcome, coffee and snacks will be served, and admission is free.

The C.O.W. Bus coming to Elk Point, annual NLLS Conference

By CAROLINE J. VANDRIE
Northern Lights
Library System

On Thursday, September 16th, the C.O.W. Bus will be in Elk Point and open to the public from 1 - 4 p.m. The bus will be coming as part of the Northern Lights Library System's Annual Conference. It will be parked at the entrance to the Allied Arts & Leisure Centre at 5615 - 48 Street.

The C.O.W. Bus, the Alberta Prairie Classroom on Wheels, is a project of the Centre for Family

Literacy in Edmonton. Their goal is a healthy, literate society where all are able to contribute and succeed. The Centre for Family Literacy builds, develops, and improves literacy with families and communities.

The Prairie C.O.W. Bus has been in operation since 2003 and runs year-round. Its mandate is to visit 60 rural Alberta communities every year. The Centre's programs have the singular goal of increasing literacy rates in Alberta. Forty per cent of Albertans between the ages of 16 and 65 do not have the reading and writing skills to succeed in today's society. Low literacy rates have a negative impact on our society and economy. Literacy developments in the home and every-one can play a part.

The Bus is filled with books, toys, and a variety of homemade activities, all intended to help boost literacy skills. Parents and their children from 0 - 6 years can come aboard to explore the activities. Trained facilitators share additional ideas and support parents in their roles as their children's first and most important teachers.

The COW Bus brings a Legacy Library of brand new books to each community it visits. These books are often added to the local library's collection, or used in a local family or literacy program.

The COW Bus Project is funded by Alberta Advanced Education and Technology, United Way, and PetroCanada.

The Lori Craven Memorial Slo-Pitch tournament is a fundraiser that helps families who have a loved one dealing with cancer.

Each year, the proceeds from the tournament go directly to the families that were chosen as recipients for that year. The ninth annual tournament was held Aug 14 and 15 in Lloydminster. Three families were chosen this year, with one family being Real and Stacey Fontaine and their son Jake, of Elk Point. After all was said and done, each family received a cheque for $24,000.

The cheque presentations were made Aug. 23 at the "Statue of Hope" in Lloydminster.

IN MEMORIAM

ONUSKO, Ron
September 8, 2006

It has been four years since your passing on September 8, 2006. Not a day goes by that we don't think of you often as husband, father, grandfather and friend. You remain with us in countless ways, but most importantly in the stories that seem always to include you - bringing a cascade of wonderful memories, laughter and sometimes tears. Your kindness, loyalty and love of learning is alive and well in all of our grandchildren and is regularly displayed in both words and actions. Although you have left us much too soon, your legacy continues to grow with the passing time. We will always love you and forever remember that our lives were and are that much richer because of who you were and what you gave so selflessly.

Loving you always: Carolyn, Jim, Cassie, Lesli, Nick, Emma, Belle, Tristan and Clara.

IN MEMORIAM

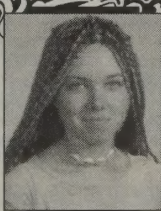

SERNIAK, Sheena Dawn

Why God??
The first thing that I asked God was just the reason why when he took my precious daughter beyond the stars in the sky as we head on to her body I then started to scream and shout was this God so really kind as people were making out but my anger then turned to sadness as we held her in our arms she was still our beautiful daughter truly an angel with all her charms it was then I started to wonder as my eyes filled up to cry was my angel needed elsewhere and is that the reason why.

Love you to the moon and back.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory
of our daughter

SHEENA DAWN SERNIAC
Oct 19, 1985 - Sept. 9, 2002.

The eight years has gone by
Without you at our side,
So many times we needed you.
So many times we cried.
Treasured are the memories
We keep them in our hearts.
On the day we lost you
Our whole world fell apart.
Your resting place we visit
And say a silent prayer
But no one knows the heartache
As we turn and leave you there.

God Bless You Sheena!
We'll Love and Remember You Always
Love: Mommy, Bob, Shelby
Grandpa & Grandma and Family

IN MEMORIAM

SERNIAK, Sheena Dawn

Oct. 19, 1985-Sept. 9, 2002

We had so little time to share
Too soon you had to leave
Do you know how much we love you
Do you know how much we grieve.

Do you know how sharp our pain is
Do you feel the aching in our hearts
Your life so quickly ended
Before it barely had a start.

We remember how we held you
And kissed your face and hands
We cuddled you so gently
But, God had other plans.

You were our perfect angel
From God we knew you came Suddenly be called you home again
And now God holds your hand.

You know we'll always miss you
Our pain is hard to bear
We remember that you're in heaven
And we'll see each other there.

You are waiting there in heaven
And on the day we meet again
You'll be the first to smile and greet us
When God calls us home to him.

Love from: Grandma Lawrence,
Richard & Patti, Kevin & Debbie,
Fred & Janet, Darron & Cindy and families.

Portage College to offer online training

Portage College has partnered with ed2go to offer hundreds of online, instructor-facilitated employee training courses. This new program makes it easy for businesses to provide high-quality training for their employees—no matter how many employees they have or where they're located.

Ed2go is a company that packages and makes economically available a whole variety of courses for Continuing Education learners.

Through well-crafted lessons, expert online instruction, and interaction with fellow students, employees gain valuable knowledge they can immediately apply on the job. They'll have the flexibility to study at their own pace combined with enough structure and support to complete the course. And they'll be able to access the classroom 24/7 from anywhere with an Internet connection.

New sessions of each course run every month. They last six weeks, with two new lessons being released weekly (for a total of 12). The courses are entirely Web-based with comprehensive lessons, quizzes, and assignments. A dedicated professional instructor facilitates every course; pacing learners, answering questions, giving feedback, and facilitating discussions.

Portage College and ed2go host the entire operation. That means participating businesses don't have to hassle with purchasing, integrating, administering, or supporting the technology. They can reap the rewards of this unique online training tool without any behind-the-scenes headaches.

These courses are thoroughly market tested with more than a million learners having taken one. Portage College is pleased to offer these courses, which provide the most convenient, affordable, and accessible employee training available anywhere.

Interested businesses can begin offering these exceptional courses right away. To learn more, call the Portage College Community and Industry Training Initiatives (CITI) at 780-623-5631 or visit www.ed2go.com/portage.

Showdown 2010 off to a great start

Ruby Braconnier leads Ladies Barrels with a crowd-pleasing first run

By VICKI BROOKER

Review Staff

The Lakeland Rodeo Association's Showdown 2010 got off to a rip-roaring start on Thursday night at the Clancy Richard Arena, with a good crowd on hand to cheer on the season's best of the best as they vied for the championships.

A change of format saw the 2010 season leaders presented with their trophy buckles as the Showdown finalists were introduced for the first performance.

The Miller Rodeo Co. buckle went to Bareback leader Luke Quartermaine of Leslieville, the Benoit Oilfield Construction award to Steer Wrestling leader Derek Frank of Stony Plain and the Young's Consulting buckle to Ladies' Barrel Racing leader Stacy Lunde of Sundre, while Mark O'Dempsey of Mayerthorpe accepted the John Duffy Rodeo award in the Saddle Bronc and Dakota Buttar of Kindersley, Sask. picked up the Mac's Oilfield Services buckle in the Bull Riding. Riley Warren of Stettler received both the St. Paul Journal buckle in Tie Down Roping and the Battle River Credit Union buckle as the year's top Team Roping heeler, the header award from On Site Oil going to Trevor Jones of Ponoka.

In the junior events, Jordan Hansen of Okotoks took home the Red Road Rodeo and IncrediBull buckle for Junior Bull Riding, Austin Nash of Sangudo the Les Trach Rodeo trophy for Junior Steer Riding and Rene LeClercq of Holden the LRA buckle for Junior Barrels. Novice Horse Riding season leader Layton Green of Meeting Creek made his way into the arena on crutches to pick up his buckle from the LRA, with Steed Cline of Bowden taking his place at the top of the Showdown lineup.

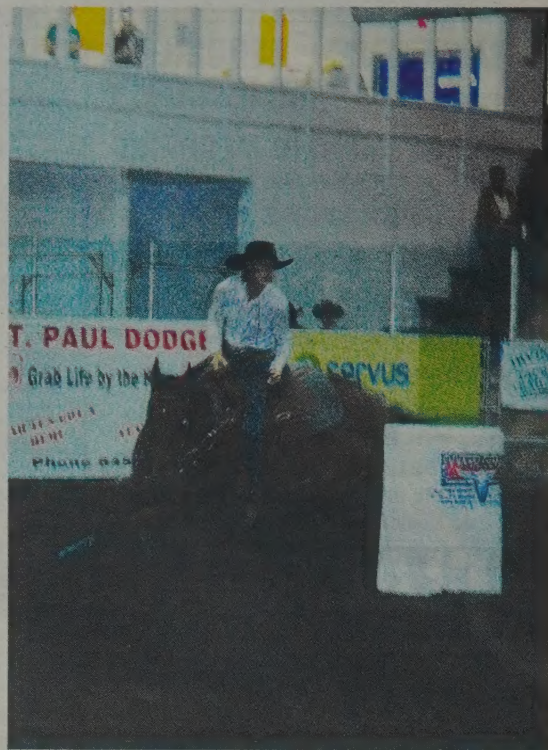

LRA vice president and 2009 Cowboy of the Year, Charlie Young of Elk Point had the honour of presenting the 2010 Cowboy of the Year award to longtime LRA member and 2008 Tie Down Roping champion Steve Horricks of Sherwood Park. Horricks also received a tooled leather Bible from the Christian Athletes.

"This is quite a shock," Horricks said, "to be voted for this award by my peers. It's quite an honour."

Horricks is a farmer, rancher and father of two. His wife Kim entertained with songs prior to the rodeo and also sang O Canada as part of the opening ceremonies, after Jesse Lawes recited the Cowboys' Prayer.

The first rodeo performance saw Peter Dyck of Amisk take the lead in the Bareback with a 74, Justin Miller of Neepawa, Man. set a rapid pace of 3.4 seconds in the Steer Wrestling, Zeke Thurston of Big Valley mark a 72 in the Novice Horse Riding, season leader Jordan Hansen take the Showdown lead with 73.5 in Junior Bulls, Tristan Carlier of Medicine Hat mark a 73 in Junior Steers, season leader Riley Warren stop the Tie Down Roping clock at 8.2 seconds, season leader Mark O'Dempsey ride for 72.5 in the Saddle Bronc, Riley Roy of Strathmore and Kurt Fletcher of Wainwright lead the Team Roping with a time of 6.2 seconds and season leader Dakota Buttar tie with Jacob Anderson of Niton Junction with 79.5 rides in the Bull Riding. Local favourite Ruby Braconnier of Elk Point, coming into the finals in sixth spot, clocked Thursday's fastest time in the Ladies' Barrels with a 13.51 second run, while Valerie Frey of Athabasca led the Junior Barrels with a time of 13.56.
